Carey Jernigan
Post-pandemic
March 2021

We didn't ask for this stillness.

but we can travel through it.

Go to a neighborhood you don't often visit.

Walk until you find a place that closed this year.

What did people do here pre-pandemic?

What did it feel like to be inside?

Picture yourself in the space,
thirteen months ago.

Then move time forward,
passing through stillness.

Keep moving until you arrive post-pandemic.

What might this space become?
